

ABSTRACT

NAME: AINISH JAMIL KHAN
YEAR: 2006-2007

ADVISOR NAME: MISS NAGINA SHEIKH
DEPARTMENT: CLOTHING & TEXTILE

TITLE

Non-Home economics teacher's views about skills and knowledge needed for a Successful life.

OBJECTIVES:

- To find out the impact of education on daily life.
- To determine their skills and knowledge needed for life.

METHODOLOGY:

Non-home economics teacher's views about skills and knowledge needed for a successful life was studied. It was descriptive study. This research study was conducted in Khatoon-e-Pakistan Government College and govt. girls degree college Gulshan-e-Iqbal. Convenient samples of 50 subjects of non-home economics teachers were selected. 25 teachers from each college were selected. Data was collected from Non-home economics teachers. Questionnaires had been distributed among Non-home economics teachers as tool for data collection. The data was analyzed using the statistical Package for social Sciences (SPSS version 11.5).

RESULT:

The result obtained shows that non home economics teachers have influence of their education and their education also contributes in daily life. Majority of the non home economics teachers cook food according to nutritive nature and they also consider family food habits before cooking meal. When they select clothes for her they consider personality, seasons, fashion, family values, trends, age and her body proportion and facial features as well. They can't stitch and modify clothes.

Most of them understand family members' behavior and socialize with community. They make family budget and utilize her available resources.

After completion of education most of the non-home economics teachers did short-term courses of cooking and fashion and dress designing for the betterment of daily life.