

ABSTRACT TITLE

Existing production of tents fabric manufactured by Pakistani industries for domestic market.

OBJECTIVES

- To find out the mostly demanded woven tents fabric in domestic market.
- To study about the latest weaving machines.

METHODOLOGY

- It is a quantitative study.
- Sample data was 12 tents-weaving industries of Karachi.
- The industries were selected on response basis as all those industries were selected which shows response
- Questionnaire cum interview was selected for data collection and interview was taken from the managers of selected tents weaving industries.
- The data was the views of the respondents.
- The data was 1st entered on EPI program and then exported on SPSS. Frequency and percentage were calculated.

RESULT

After the analysis and discussions of result we find out the following points: Weaving is the most common method used in tents fabrication. 75% manufacturers said shuttle less looms are the most convenient machine used for tents weaving they are more commonly used because its increases 55.5% the production rate and gives good quality fabric. According to the views of about 85% manufacturers Cotton is mostly demanded fiber because of its durability although cotton blend is also used which gives good look & about 66.7% manufacturers use 10(76) X10(86) thread count for tents